Before You Use This Guide

This guide is designed for Zimbabwean students and families looking for credible international scholarship routes. It prioritises opportunities that are fully funded, full cost, high coverage or otherwise strategically valuable.

Scholarship rules change. Dates, eligible countries, age limits, course lists, funding amounts and document requirements can change from one cycle to the next. The official scholarship provider always controls. Every profile in this guide includes an official source link for final verification.

A scholarship being listed here does not mean every Zimbabwean applicant qualifies. Academic eligibility, age, prior qualifications, subject requirements, work experience, admission rules and other published hard gates still apply.

This edition was compiled from the Varsity Visa Scholarship Finder database reviewed through 12 September 2026. Where a future cycle had not yet been published, the guide shows the typical or most recently verified application window rather than inventing a future deadline.

This guide is free. Share it with students, parents, teachers, schools, churches, youth groups and university communities. Please keep the Varsity Visa branding and official links intact so recipients can verify updates.

The 100 scholarship profiles are numbered continuously from 01 to 100. Use the section overview tables to scan the full list quickly, then open the profile page for requirements, dates, funding and the official link.

How to Use the Guide

1. Pick your study level first. Do not waste time on scholarships for a level you are not academically ready to enter.
2. Start with the fully funded and full-cost opportunities at the front of each section, but remain realistic about competitiveness.
3. Read the hard eligibility rules before writing essays. Financial need or a strong story cannot cancel a published age, qualification, nationality, subject or work-experience requirement.
4. Use the typical opening window to prepare early. Do not wait for the portal to open before requesting transcripts, references or passports.
5. Open the official link before applying. Never pay a third party merely for access to an application form that the provider offers free.
6. Apply to several well-matched opportunities. One excellent application is better than ten applications for scholarships you do not qualify for.

What the funding labels mean

Fully funded / full cost: Designed to cover the major cost categories such as tuition and living costs; many also include travel, insurance or allowances.

100% demonstrated need: The university may meet the admitted student's calculated financial need. This is not an automatic full scholarship and admission can be extremely competitive.

Full tuition + living support / high coverage: Strong funding, but check whether travel, insurance, visa fees, books or other costs remain.

Full tuition / government scholarship: Tuition may be fully covered while living or travel support varies.

High-value award: Useful support that may still leave a meaningful funding gap.

Scholarship Preparation Checklist

- Valid passport or plan to obtain one
- Certified academic transcripts and certificates
- A clear academic CV
- Two to four potential referees who know your work
- Evidence of leadership, service, projects or extracurricular impact
- English-language test plan where required
- A strong personal statement / motivation narrative
- Work-experience evidence for scholarships with hard minimums
- Course shortlist that matches scholarship rules
- Calendar reminders 6-12 weeks before likely opening dates

A warning about "full scholarships"

Do not assume that every scholarship described online as "full" covers everything. Always verify tuition, accommodation, food, travel, insurance, visa costs, books and personal expenses separately. This guide uses the provider's published funding description and flags high-coverage awards separately from comprehensive full-cost awards.

PART I - 60 Undergraduate Scholarships

This is the priority section for school leavers and first-degree applicants. Fully funded, full-cost and high-coverage opportunities appear first. US need-based institutions can potentially provide very high support, but admission is exceptionally competitive.

Who can apply: Must hold nationality of a country with diplomatic relations with Japan. Japanese nationals are ineligible; qualifying dual nationals residing outside Japan must choose the other nationality and relinquish Japanese nationality by arrival. First Screening is conducted by the Japanese diplomatic mission for the chosen nationality.

Academic / qualification: Secondary school / A-Level equivalent. Must have completed, or be due to complete by the applicable 2027 date, 12 years of schooling outside Japan; or have completed an equivalent upper-secondary school; or passed an examination equivalent to 12 years of schooling; or otherwise be eligible for Japanese university enrolment. Direct placement is limited to specified academic-background routes.

Grade threshold: No universal GPA, percentage or A-Level-points minimum is published in the 2027 MEXT guideline. Selection is competitive and includes transcript review, written examinations and interview; do not fabricate a numeric cut-off.

Age: For the 2027 Embassy Recommendation, applicants must in principle have been born on or after 2 April 2002 and must be at least 18 at university admission where the stated academic-background route requires it. Exceptions are limited to qualifying country...

Fields / subjects: Law, politics, pedagogy, sociology, literature, history, Japanese language, economics, business, accounting/financial economics; mathematics, physics, chemistry, engineering, architecture, environmental engineering, biotechnology, agriculture, veterinary medicine, pharmacy, nursing, biology, medicine and dentistry, subject to the guideline's course groupings.

Important exclusions: Fields of art, including music, are not eligible majors. Applicants may not change their selected course group or transfer universities during the scholarship period.

Work experience: No work-experience requirement is published for the undergraduate route.

Language: Applicants must be willing to learn Japanese and, in principle, study in Japanese. Direct placement may require Japanese or English proficiency evidence and may include language testing or interviews.

Cycle / dates: 2027 embassy recommendation: recruitment generally April-May 2026; first screening May-August 2026; country schedule varies.

How to apply: Apply to the Japanese diplomatic mission, not directly to a university for the ordinary route. After First and Second Screening, MEXT assigns the university. Most grantees complete one year of preparatory education; direct placement is possible only under the published conditions.

Documents: 2027 application form; academic transcripts for all school/university years attended; graduation certificate or prospective-graduation certificate; recommendation letter from the last school's class teacher or principal; prescribed medical certificate; and any conditional documents required by the guideline, including the direct-placement preference form after First Screening where applicable.

Selection: Japanese diplomatic mission reviews documents, administers written academic examinations and conducts interviews (First Screening) -> successful candidates are recommended to MEXT -> MEXT conducts Second Screening and final selection -> final results are issued through the diplomatic mission after February 2027. Passing First Screening does not guarantee an award.

Common disqualifiers: Japanese nationality without satisfying the dual-national exception; outside the published age rule; inadequate academic background; inability to arrive on time; failure to obtain/maintain Student status; military personnel/civilian military employees; prohibited simultaneous MEXT application or incompatible scholarship; certain current Japanese enrolment; failure to graduate in time; long-term study outside Japan;...

PART V - How to Build a Strong Scholarship Application

1. Eligibility first

Before writing any essay, prove that you pass every hard gate: nationality, study level, prior qualification, age, field, work experience and admission sequence. If one published hard gate fails, a compelling story will not fix it.

2. Build an evidence bank

Create one document containing your strongest academic achievements, leadership examples, service, projects, employment results, awards, obstacles overcome and measurable impact. This becomes raw material for different applications.

3. Choose courses strategically

Do not select a course simply because a scholarship funds it. Your prior study, career direction and proposed degree should form a coherent story. Many panels reject applicants whose course choice feels disconnected from their record.

4. Make references specific

Give referees enough time and send them your CV, course choice, scholarship criteria and examples of work they personally observed. Generic praise is weaker than specific evidence of academic ability, initiative, integrity or leadership.

5. Answer the actual question

Scholarship essays are not autobiographies. If the prompt asks about leadership, give a leadership example, explain what you did, quantify the result where possible and show what you learned.

6. Prepare for interviews

Know your proposed course, university, career plan, home-country impact and every major claim in your written application. Panels often probe inconsistencies rather than ask only predictable motivational questions.

7. Apply ethically

Never fabricate leadership, employment, grades, awards, hardship or documents. Several major scholarship providers can withdraw an application or award if material claims are false or misleading.
